SCRAP-YARD BLAZE

Fire crews needed the help of a water-bombing helicopter to battle a huge blaze that broke out in a pile of scrap vehicles at General Scrap, just outside of Winnipeg, on Bismarck Street in Springfield on Tuesday. The fire started at about 5 p.m. and sent huge plumes of smoke over Transcona for hours. The fire was still burning at press time. SHANE GIBSON/METRO

MPI deals with deluge of damage

Stormy weather.

More than 1,500 claims have been filed after Saturday's hailstorm

BERNICE PONTANILLA
bernice.pontanilla@metronews.ca

The damage wrought by a recent hailstorm has prompted Manitoba Public Insurance to turn one of its customer-service centres in Winnipeg into a special hail claim centre.

"In order to respond to the extraordinary number of new claims, it was decided to establish this special centre," said Christine Martin, vice-president of service operations for MPI. "We realize many people are concerned about their vehicles. Providing the best service possible to our customers has always been the No. 1 priority for our corporation."

So far, MPI has received more than 1,500 claims as a result of last weekend's hailstorm, with more coming in daily.

MPI spokesperson Brian

Smiley said Charleswood and St. James saw the bulk of the damage from the hailstorm, as well as parts of Petersfield and Clandeboyne, just west of Selkirk.

"We'll have a better grasp of (the damage) by the end of the week," said Smiley, adding that a similar storm last year led to about 3,000 claims and $14 million in costs.

The hail claim centre is located at MPI's Bison Service Centre at 15 Barnes St., but vehicle owners must have booked appointments through MPI's call centre, 985-7000, before arriving.

Extra staff and extended hours mean the hail claim centre can handle up to 300 appointments a day and its hours of operation will be from 7:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday to Friday. The centre will also be open on Saturdays from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.

For those vehicle owners in the Selkirk area, the Selkirk Service Centre will handle hail claims. This centre is open Monday to Thursday, 8:30 a.m. to 8 p.m., and 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Friday.

Website linking lawyers and clients seeking 'Peg members

Online trend. Legal Linkup expanding west

bernice.pontanilla@metronews.ca

An online website that helps connect lawyers with clients in a confidential, timely manner is expanding west.

Legal Linkup, which officially launched this past January, has been a hit among lawyers in Ontario.

The website allows clients to confidentially post a request for proposals based on their legal needs for free. Lawyers registered as members with Legal Linkup then review the proposals and respond, allowing clients to look at the responses and pick the lawyer who best suits their needs.

"The lawyer-client networking process is no exception to the trend of going online," said Joshua Slayen, vice-president of business development for Legal Linkup. "There's been a lot of interest.... We are certainly accepting memberships in Winnipeg."

Slayen, a Winnipegger who worked for Legal Linkup in Toronto before moving back to the Manitoba capital to take on the expansion west, graduated from the University of North Dakota's school of law in 2009 and articulated at Taylor McCauley LLP.

He believes lawyers are becoming more and more tech-savvy, using many social-networking sites to further their careers.

"When you look at the rise of lawyers using LinkedIn or Twitter, what we saw were lawyers becoming more comfortable using online resources," said Slayen. "What was lacking was the ability for a client to put in an issue and get feedback from a lawyer."

Legal Linkup, founded by Vancouver lawyer Shane Coblin and Toronto businessman Lawrence Tepperman, employs technical features similar to those found on websites such as eHarmony, Match.com, and Priceline, making it easy to navigate.

The areas of law most popular on Legal Linkup are real estate, family, civil litigation and criminal law. Great strides are also being made in corporate law, added Slayen.

Visit legallinkup.com for more information.

Puppy alive and well after being found in dumpster

Rayne was found in this dumpster on Jefferson Avenue.

WINNIPEG ANIMAL SERVICES AGENCY

Winnipeg's Animal Services Agency (ASA) is reminding the public of the many resources available for people unable to care for their dogs after a puppy was found discarded in a city dumpster last week.

The dog — dubbed Rayne by rescuers — has since received medical attention and is in the care of animal services after being found in a garbage bin in the 1000 block of Jefferson Avenue. Rayne will be up for adoption shortly, and a spokesperson for the ASA said the phones have been ringing incessantly since the story was posted.

The agency recommends that anyone unable to care for their dogs ask family, friends and co-workers for help, or look for assistance from one of the numerous animal-welfare groups in Winnipeg.

For more information or to see pictures and videos of dogs available for adoption, go to winnipeg.ca/cms/Animal. METRO

Going green. City, province to make recycling easier

It's getting even easier to be green in Winnipeg and across the province.

The Canadian Beverage Container Recycling Association (CBCRA) began installing new Recycle Everywhere bins in city facilities Tuesday and is also rolling out a similar pilot program in partnership with the Province of Manitoba later this year.

In Winnipeg, the new bins will be installed in various arenas, pools and community centres, among other facilities, and the entire $3.5-million tab for the project will be picked up by the CBCRA.

"It is clear that Winnipeggers want to recycle and that providing more access to recycling is one key to success," said

SHANE GIBSON/METRO

Coun. Russ Wyatt, chair of the Mayor's environmental advisory committee in a release. "This arrangement is a great fit with Winnipeg's new waste-management plan that emphasizes increased recycling."

"The fact that CBCRA is providing the bins at no cost is a bonus for taxpayers."

The province announced Tuesday a partnership with the CBCRA that will see an enhanced beverage container recycling program introduced to government buildings, provincial parks and roadside stops.

The pilot project will kick off later this year at the legislative building and Memorial Park in Winnipeg before moving out across the province.

June 23. MS Society gets dirty to raise money

The MS Society of Canada, Manitoba Division, wants people to get dirty on June 23 to raise money for people living with MS.

The MS Society will hold the first-ever Rush MS Adventure Challenge at Adrenaline Adventures. The event will see teams of four tackle an extreme 5K challenge, featuring mud and obstacles.

Chad Falk, the manager of major event programs for the MS Society, said the event was created because they were looking for something different from the usual run or cycle event.

"We wanted to bring something new and bold to Winnipeg," said Falk.

"The course is intense and it's more about having fun than passing the finish line first."

Falk said the challenges and obstacles of the race are symbols of the challenges and obstacles that people living with MS face.

"It is a good comparison for people living with MS because they face challenges every day."

There is no fundraising component to the event, as all money raised will be through registration fees. People can register at adrenalinemb.com.

Save-ELA group sees support swell

Save ELA. Petition gathered signatures from across Canada

bernice.pontanilla@metronews.ca

The fight to save the Experimental Lakes Area in northwestern Ontario has received thousands of signatures of support from regular Canadians.

The Coalition to Save ELA said Tuesday in the 17 days since the launch of their parliamentary petition, they have collected 11,514 signatures from across the country, from B.C. to Newfoundland and as far north as Nunavut.

"We are so encouraged by the groundswell of support from concerned citizens across the country to save the ELA," said Diane Orihel, a leader of the Coalition to Save ELA, in a press release.

"Canadians are sending a very clear message to their government about how and where they want their tax dollars spent to support the ELA — a message government will be hard pressed to ignore."

Also on Tuesday, Mac Harb, a Liberal senator from Ontario, joined the Coalition to Save ELA.

On May 17, staff at ELA received layoff notices from the Department of Fisheries and Oceans, reportedly due to federal budget cuts.

The ELA, which has a $2-million operating budget, is made up of 58 small lakes and their watersheds that have been set aside for research since 1968.

The ELA has provided advice to policy-makers and industry on such issues as: Harmful algal blooms, acid rain, the impact of hormones in sewage effluent on fish health, evidence that flame retardants degrade into banned toxic chemicals and measures to lower mercury contamination in fish.

It is operated out of the Freshwater Institute in Winnipeg.

New Aqua Books location to open after whirlwind move

If Kelly Hughes doesn't like to be busy, he isn't letting it show.

The Aqua Books owner officially shut his doors at the store's 275 Garry St. address Saturday, and after packing all week and moving into his new home at 123 Princess St. over the weekend, he plans to be ready to open the new store in time for a Winnipeg International Jazz Festival performance Monday night.

"I don't know if ready is the right word, but we'll get it done," he laughed Tuesday, while knee-deep in boxes of books at the old store. "We're putting our noses to the grindstone and we're trying to get it all done."

After announcing his Garry Street location would close last August, Hughes unveiled the store's new home in the basement of a 112-year-old building in the Exchange District in February.

The new Aqua Books will feature a stage for music and theatre, a bar, a smaller food-service area not associated with Eat! bistro, workshop space and some books, but not nearly as many as the roughly 40,000 he had at the old store.

"The theatre is going to be the real focus," explained Hughes, adding the new location has a larger stage and room for somewhere between 100 to 120 people. "I love the way the new place looks and I love the way it sounds for music."

Aqua Books' new digs will play host to seven Fringe Festival performances in July.

Quebec. Students head to court to fight harsh law designed to curb protests

Lawyers were heading to court Tuesday to challenge a controversial Quebec law brought in to deal with student protests.

The government introduced the law as a way to cool down the heated protests.

But it may have backfired politically, as protests have grown larger, attracted more diverse crowds, and spread to different cities.

Nearly 20 lawyers representing student federations and other groups are trying to get parts of the law temporarily suspended until they can argue the merits.

Bill 78 came into force in mid-May, but police across the province have rarely applied it.

The legal motion being heard in court is one of two challenging the emergency law. The second is to have Bill 78 declared invalid altogether and it will be heard at a later date.

The law lays out rules for demonstrations, such as ordering assemblies of more than 50 people to give eight hours notice of the protest route and the estimated dur-

Dingo really did take baby, says coroner

Mystery. It took four inquests, 32 years to clear mother accused of killing her own baby

Australians have overwhelmingly welcomed the final chapter of a mystery that has captivated the country for 32 years: Did a dingo really take a baby that vanished from an Outback campsite in 1980?

A country that was once bitterly divided on whether baby Azaria Chamberlain had been dragged away by a wild dog or murdered by her mother now largely agrees that the parents deserve the vindication a coroner's court provided Tuesday.

A day after Azaria Chamberlain would have turned 32, a coroner found that a dingo had taken her as a nine-week-old baby from a tent near Ayers Rock, the red monolith now known as Uluru. That is what her parents had maintained from the beginning.

welled with tears as the findings of the fourth inquest into their daughter's disappearance were broadcast from a courtroom in the northern city of Darwin to televisions around Australia.

The case became famous internationally through the 1988 Meryl Streep movie A Cry in the Dark.

Many Australians initially did not believe that a dingo was strong enough to take away the baby. Public opinion swayed harshly against the couple; some even spat on Chamberlain-Creighton and howled like dingoes outside her house.

Bangladesh turns away Muslims escaping conflict in Myanmar

Bangladesh on Tuesday turned away three boats carrying 1,000 Rohingya Muslims fleeing violence in neighbouring Myanmar, bringing to 1,500 the number of refugees blocked in recent days, officials said.

"They have been chased away," police official Jahangir Alam said by phone from Saint Martins Island in the Bay of Bengal after the three boats attempted to approach the shore of the island. "We are keeping our eyes open so that nobody can enter Bangladesh illegally."

Violence between Buddhists and minority Muslims in western Myanmar have left at least 12 people dead and hundreds of homes burned since Friday. Bangladesh earlier said it sent back 11 boats with about 500 Rohingya Muslims aboard in the past three days.

Foreign Minister Dipu Moni said at a news conference in the capital, Dhaka, that it was not in Bangladesh's interest to accept any refugees because the impoverished country's resources already are strained.

Some still slipped into Bangladesh, and one refugee allegedly wounded by gunfire from Myanmar security forces died Tuesday at a hospital in Chittagong, a doctor said.

Kala Hussain, 50, died from a stomach wound and two other Rohingyas are being treated for bullet wounds, said Anisur Rahman, a doctor at Chittagong Medical College Hospital.

Bombardier shares surge on massive business-jet order

Major deal. NetJets Inc., a Warren Buffett company, signed the deal to buy up to 275 Bombardier Challengers — worth up to $7.3 billion US

Bombardier Inc. shares soared in trading Tuesday following a major deal with one of renowned billionaire investor Warren Buffett's companies, which is poised to buy up to $9.6 billion worth of business jets and services.

Private jet company NetJets Inc. signed a deal Monday to buy up to 275 Bombardier Challenger business jets that could be worth up to $7.3 billion US. There are 100 firm orders and options on 175 more.

Bombardier said it has also signed a 15-year service and maintenance agreement for the aircraft valued at as much as an additional $2.3 billion if all options are exercised.

Bombardier shares gained more than six per cent, or 22 cents, to close at $3.87 Cdn on heavy volume of more than 21.2-million shares on the Toronto Stock Exchange.

"This purchase demonstrates our long-term planning and represents our ongoing commitment to providing unparalleled safety and service in aircraft uniquely customized for our owners," NetJets chairman and CEO Jordan Hansell said in a statement.

"We are confident that NetJets' market leadership and strong foundation position us to make long-term investments in our business to differentiate our fleet in ways that no one else in the industry can."

NetJets is a unit of Berkshire Hathaway Inc., Buffett's main company.

The deal includes 75 firm orders and 125 options for the Challenger 300 Series aircraft as well as 25 firm orders and 50 options for the larger Challenger 605 Series aircraft. The firm orders are worth $2.6 billion based on 2012 list prices.

The order follows a deal earlier this year that saw NetJets order up to 120 of Bombardier's Global business jets in a deal worth as much as $6.7 billion US.

Deliveries are already expected to increase this year and in 2013. The first Challenger 300 will be delivered in 2014 while the first larger Challenger 605 will be delivered in 2015.

Airlines battle with ticketing firms over new booking systems

A passenger uses a self-check-in kiosk in Atlanta. Extra legroom, special meals, access to the VIP lounge — and tickets to a musical? Airlines want to raise new revenues by selling such extras alongside tickets and are locked in battle with three companies that dominate the bookings industry over the introduction of a new global reservation system. Carriers complain the current system is a costly 1970s throwback without Internet-era convenience. They want to cut out the global ticket-booking systems — Sabre Holdings, Travelport Ltd. and Amadeus IT Group — that some reject as obsolete middlemen who add costs. Bookings companies retort that they have invested to upgrade services and are working hard to meet carriers' needs.

Bids for new Internet suffixes include .lol, .doctor

Alex Stamos, CTO of Artemis Internet, an NCC Group Company, poses by a domain-name poster at their offices in San Francisco. Some 2,000 proposals have been submitted as part of the largest expansion of the Internet address system since its creation in the 1980s. ERIC RISBERG/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If Google has its way, people won't need "Google.com" to do searches. They can simply go to ".Google."

New York City wants Internet addresses ending in ".nyc," while several companies and groups are looking to create ".doctor," ".music" and ".bank." Google Inc. is also seeking ".YouTube" and ".lol" — the digital shorthand for "laugh out loud." Others are looking to attract non-English speakers with suffixes in a variety of languages.

Some 2,000 proposals have been submitted as part of the largest expansion of the Internet address system since its creation in the 1980s.

These suffixes would rival ".com" and about 300 others now in use. Companies would be able to create separate websites and separate addresses for each of their products and brands, for instance, even as they keep their existing ".com" name.

One day, you might go to "comedy.YouTube" rather than "YouTube.com/comedy."

The organization behind the expansion, the Internet Corporation for Assigned Names and Numbers, will announce a full list and other details in London on Wednesday.

It'll take at least a year or two, however, for the first of these new suffixes to win approval and appear in use. Some of them never will if they are found to violate trademarks or are deemed offensive. Others will be delayed as competing bidders quarrel for easy-to-remember words such as ".web."

Energy. U.S. coal losing steam to natural gas

Coal — the fuel that powered the U.S. from the industrial revolution into the iPhone era — is being pushed aside as utilities switch to cleaner and cheaper alternatives.

The share of U.S. electricity that comes from coal is forecast to fall below 40 per cent for the year — the lowest level since the government began collecting this data in 1949. Four years ago, it was 50 per cent. By the end of this decade, it is likely to be near 30 per cent.

Utilities are aggressively ditching coal in favour of natural gas, which has become cheaper as supplies grow. Natural gas has other advantages over coal: It produces far fewer emissions of toxic chemicals and gases that contribute to climate change, key attributes as tougher environmental rules go into effect.

The shift from coal is reverberating across Appalachia, where mining companies are laying off workers and cutting production. Utilities across the country are grappling with how to store growing piles of unused coal.

BEAUTY IS WHAT'S BEHIND YOUR NEXT RAISE

JUST SAYIN'
Paul Sullivan
metronews.ca/justsaying

When Maria Sharapova won the French Open on Saturday, it was another victory for the Beautiful People.

Sharapova, all six-foot-two of her, is gorgeous. But then, so are a lot of tennis players these days. Somewhere along the line, right at Anna Kournikova, perhaps, it became important for female tennis players to be beautiful as well as talented.

Partial list: Daniela Hantuchova, Sabine Lisicki, Vera Zvonareva, Lucie Safarova, Maria Kirilenko, Simona Halep, Tatiana Golovin, as well as the aforementioned Kournikova and Sharapova. Apparently, it doesn't hurt if you're eastern European either.

One honest BBC producer has admitted that "babes and Brits" get the centre-court treatment at Wimbledon while less attractive players have to grunt it out on the outer courts.

But that's the way of the world. If you're gorgeous, you're golden.

Daniel Hamermesh, a professor at the University of Texas in Austin and author of Beauty Pays, estimates that, in a lifetime, a bad-looking person can earn $230,000 less than a good-looking person, all other things being equal.

The truth about looking good is out there.

In the job market: Attractive people get more job recommendations, are considered more qualified, more likely to succeed, more likely to be hired, paid more, promoted more and less likely to be fired.

In the courts: Juries think physically attractive people are less likely to be guilty. Attractive people get lower bail, lighter sentences and smaller fines. Except maybe not Luka Magnotta. But imagine how much trouble he'd be in if he was really ugly?

In school: Attractive people get better grades.

On Facebook: Attractive people are more "friended" than ugly people.

Sex: Attractive people get more dates, have more sex and even have more orgasms.

OK, too much information, perhaps. Good thing I'm attractive. Did I mention that generally, men tend to overestimate their good looks? Women go the opposite way. More than eight out of 10 hate the way they look in a mirror. One study showed women see themselves as fatter after eating a single chocolate bar. It would have to be a 35,000-calorie chocolate bar for that to be true.

Hamermesh (whose wife thinks he looks average) finds that 70 per cent of people agree on what's attractive most of the time. It has to do with symmetry. The more symmetrical you look, the more attractive you are. Jug ears are out.

So that "beauty is in the eye of the beholder" stuff is fine ... just as long as you're beautiful.

Have a nice day, and if possible, stay away from mirrors. They're bad luck, in more ways than one.

Three cubs rescued in house raid

A caretaker bottle-feeds a rescued Bengal tiger cub in Dhaka, Bangladesh, on Tuesday. Bangladeshi officials Monday rescued three Bengal tiger cubs from an alleged wildlife smuggler's house in the capital.

The cubs, about two months old, had been captured in the southwestern Sundarbans mangrove forests in Bangladesh.

Endangered

- The suspected smuggler in possession of the cubs at the time of the raid was arrested, the BBC reported.
- The cubs have been handed over to a private zoo until their fate is decided by a government committee.
- There are 440 Bengal tigers in Bangladesh and less than 2,500 worldwide, according to wildlife-conservation organization IUCN.

Grammy producer discusses Houston doc

Producers of the 54th Grammy Awards have created a documentary showing how they adapted to the news of Whitney Houston's death less than 24 hours before the live telecast.

A Death in the Family: The Show Must Go On premiered Monday at the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences' headquarters in Los Angeles.

Ken Ehrlich, who has produced the Grammy Awards for the past 32 years, introduced the film and participated in a panel discussion afterward with Recording Academy president Neil Portnow, Grammy host LL Cool J, musician Dave Grohl and others.

LL Cool J said addressing the Grammy audience after Houston's death was "the most challenging moment I've faced in my career."

The 25-minute film can be seen on Grammy.com and at the Grammy Museum.

Cruise stars as art imitates life (again) in Rock of Ages

Fantasy reflects reality. Like other films in the genre, this Shankman effort draws heavily on how rock stars live their lives

IN FOCUS
Richard Crouse

In Rock of Ages Tom Cruise plays superstar Stacee Jaxx. He's Ozzy Osbourne with Axl Rose's attitude and Prince's trademarked revealing chaps, a spicy stew of rebellion, decadence and Jack Daniels.

The first time we see Jaxx in the film he's on a round bed, buried under several scantily clad women. It's a memorable first look at the character, but it's not exactly an original one.

Director Adam Shankman admits that the idea came from a similar scene — featuring KISS singer Paul Stanley — in the heavy metal documentary The Decline of Western Civilization Part II: The Metal Years.

It's not the first time a music movie has taken its cue from real rock life.

For a year before shooting playing Jim Morrison in The Doors Val Kilmer immersed himself in the singer's life, wearing his clothes and spending time at the Lizard King's favorite Sunset Strip bars.

Despite the film's many factual errors — drummer

John Densmore claims "A third of it is fiction" — the recording studio scene where Jim smashes a TV is true, and even Jim's disgruntled ex-band mates said they couldn't distinguish Kilmer's voice from the real Morrison's.

The Doors weren't the only musicians fooled by an actor.

Joan Jett was annoyed that Kristen Stewart wore leather pants when playing her in The Runaways — it would have been more authentic if she had worn jeans she said — but she was impressed with Stewart's voice. When she first heard a recording of the actress belting out one of her songs she thought it was actually a tape of her old band.

Sex Pistols' singer Johnny Rotten dismissed Sid and

Big-time show

Some facts about the Rock of Ages movie:

- Decisions. Will Ferrell and Steve Carrell were considered for Alec Baldwin's role; and Taylor Swift was considered for Julianne Hough's.
- Location. The film was shot in Fort Lauderdale, Florida.
- Big budget. It cost more than $70 million to make.

Nancy — the story of Sid Vicious's life and death — as "mere fantasy" but Gary Oldham bought at least one authentic bit of Sid to the film by wearing the bass player's real chain necklace in several scenes. Sid's mom gave the actor the necklace to wear during filming.

Just as Shankman and Cruise borrowed from The Decline of Western Civilization, the Bob Dylan doc Don't Look Back has inspired scenes in movies such as Bob Roberts and I'm Not There.

The mockumentary Walk Hard: The Dewey Cox Story parodies the movie in a press conference scene when a reporter compares Dewey to Dylan. "Why doesn't anyone ask Bob Dylan why he sounds so much like Dewey Cox?" Dewey replies, echoing Dylan's response to a reporter who likened Dylan to singer-songwriter Donovan.

Crime pays for Boardwalk Empire's Winter

In the know. A lifelong interest in, and a close-up view of, crime allows former Sopranos writer to be incredibly accurate

Terence Winter has always had criminal leanings but fortunately the creator of the critically acclaimed Boardwalk Empire channelled his lifelong obsession into something good.

Boardwalk Empire is a period drama starring Steve Buscemi, focusing on Enoch "Nucky" Thompson, a political figure who rose to prominence and controlled Atlantic City, New Jersey, during the Prohibition period of the 1920s and 1930s.

It has been renewed for a third season.

The inspiration that has driven him to spend much of his career writing about criminals — he was also a major writer on The Sopranos — came from an unexpected place.

"I'm always interested in criminals and crime. People ask me how this started and aside from growing up in Brooklyn in an area that kind of has a long history in mob type behaviour I could point it to the movie version of Oliver Twist," Winter said with a chuckle at the Banff World Media Festival. He is also listed as a writer and executive producer of the show.

"I remember I was a kid growing fascinated with pickpocketing — that was the subplot — Fagin and his pickpockets in that underground gang. A year later the Sting came out and it was all about con men and I became interested in that."

Winter, 51, also worked in a butcher shop that turned out to be owned by Paul Castellano, who was then the head of the powerful Gambino crime family.

"I got to rub elbows with guys not unlike the people who were in the Sopranos and just saw how they thought and how they talked and how they operated. It was just a world I was familiar with and was comfortable writing about."

Winter was an executive producer for The Sopranos and wrote or co-wrote 25 episodes over the HBO series' six-year run.

Less than 24 hours before he was scheduled to host Monday night's Bideawee Gala in New York City, former Entourage star Adrian Grenier cancelled on the animal welfare charity. (While he declined to give an explanation to donors who paid up to $1,000 per ticket, suffice it to say we sincerely doubt it was a work commitment.)

Fortunately, Howard Stern's wife, Beth, stepped in — and naturally, Stern had something to say about it during his Tuesday morning broadcast.

"A lot of celebrities agree to do something for a charity, and at the last minute they cancel, leaving the charity stranded," he said. "I do lose respect for people when they do this. They always have a great excuse. I don't know. Send out a tweet and say 'I'm so sorry.'"

Oh Adrian, we're dying to know: How does it feel to be out-classed by Howard Stern?

Move over cedar plank, pineapple bark is coming for your grilling spot

Using pineapple bark in the same way you would use a cedar plank to grill, infuses the meat with a delicate sweetness, and keeps it moist and juicy. The enzymes in the pineapple also help to tenderize the meat.

1. Carefully cut off the top and bottom of the pineapple. These can be discarded. Stand the pineapple upright. Cut the skin off the pineapple, removing it in 6 long strips. To do this, begin cutting at the top of

Ingredients

- 1 large whole pineapple
- 3 boneless, skinless chicken breasts
- Salt and ground black pepper
- Ground cumin
- Cayenne pepper
- 1/2 small red onion, diced
- 1 jalapeno, seeds removed, diced
- 2 avocados, pitted and chopped
- Juice of 1 lime
- 1 tbsp chopped fresh cilantro

the fruit and slice downward, letting the knife follow the curve of the fruit. Leave about 1/2 inch of flesh on each strip of skin. Rotate the fruit and repeat. Set aside.

2. Place each chicken breast between sheets of plastic wrap and use a meat mallet to pound to an even 1/2 inch thickness. Season each on both sides with salt, pepper, cumin and cayenne. Lay each piece of chicken over the cut side of one of the slices of pineapple skin. Set a second strip of pineapple skin, cut side down, on top. Use kitchen twine to tie the bundles to hold them together. Refrigerate the chicken bundles for about 30 minutes.

3. When ready to cook, heat one side of the grill to high, the other side to low.

4. Meanwhile, cut the skinned pineapple (the flesh) into thick circles. Use a small round cookie or biscuit cutter (or a paring knife) to cut out and discard the core from each round.

5. When grill is hot, arrange chicken bundles on the cooler side of the grill. Cook for 15 minutes per side, or until the chicken reaches 165 F at the centre. During the final 10 minutes, add the pineapple rings and cook for 5 minutes per side.

6. Guacamole: In bowl combine red onion, jalapeno, avocados, lime juice and cilantro. Gently mix then season with salt and pepper.

Thai Peanut Chicken Pops. A big burst of flavours

1. In a bowl, whisk peanut butter with soy sauce, lime juice and curry paste until blended.

2. Slice chicken lengthwise into 1/2-inch (1-cm) thick strips. Add chicken to peanut butter mix and stir to coat. Refrigerate chicken at least 2 hours before skewering.

3. Soak skewers in water. Oil grill and preheat to medium. Remove chicken from marinade and roll each strip into a spiral, inserting a small skewer through each spiral to hold like a lollipop. The end pieces will be smaller, so roll with another strip. Sprinkle with salt.

4. Place on grill and barbecue, turning once, until cooked through, about 5 minutes.

Ingredients

- 1/2 cup (125 ml) natural peanut butter, crunchy
- 1/4 cup each (50 ml) soy sauce and lime juice
- 2 tbsp (30 ml) Thai curry paste, red or green
- 4 skinless, boneless chicken breast halves

- 20 to 24 small 6-inch (15-cm) wooden skewers
- Salt to taste
- 1 tbsp (15 ml) chopped peanuts
- 1 tbsp (15 ml) chopped coriander

Serve on a platter, sprinkled with peanuts and coriander.

I've got the first-job jitters

Newly hired nerves.
A few tips to conquer that queasy feeling as you start out on your career path

CATHY KEATES
TalentEgg.ca

First, congratulations on getting that job! It's a big deal to start your first "real" job. Unfortunately, it sounds like excitement is being overshadowed by nerves.

What is it that you are nervous about? The more clear you are on just what it is that is causing your nerves, the better you'll be able to address it.

Some common concerns when starting a new job include feeling overwhelmed by the idea of walking into a brand new environment and not knowing what to expect, feeling shy about meeting all kinds of people (perhaps including suit-wearing and/or other 'important' people), and sometimes worrying that maybe you won't be good enough at the job.

Remember that this job is yours! So breathe in, exhale, and enjoy the opportunity. iSTOCK

Regardless of what it is specifically causing your worries, here are a few things you can do to make starting your first day easier.

Rest and food

Seems a bit overly simple, but sometimes the simple things are very important. Getting a good sleep the night before your first day and feeding yourself more than caffeine that morning can help your physical self keep your emotional self feeling stronger and more relaxed.

Remember they hired you ## for a reason

Hiring decisions are rarely taken lightly. If you've been offered this job, the organization/company must feel convinced that you are up for it (even if you yourself may be worried). If you are nervous about whether you can do this, remind yourself that you probably would not have been hired if you didn't display the skills and qualities that are needed.

Assess your expectations for yourself

Yes, the first day is important, but too much emphasis can be placed on first impressions. Your first day is usually a day of easing you into your new role. Usually, there will be introductions, orientations, tours and some explanation of your job. You don't have to go sprinting out of the starting gate and impress everyone in your first eight hours there. You can spend the day with a smile on your face and listening, learning, and trying to remember everyone's name (a note pad might help!).

Best wishes as you start your new job!

TalentEgg.ca

Yes, experience is important, but how can a recent graduate acquire experience if not given the opportunity? This is an issue which continues to be a major cause of frustration and, at times, desperation.

I am a recent graduate with a B.A in both English Literature and Spanish. For five years I read novels, scripts, plays and articles in both English and Spanish, analyzing and scrutinizing them. Many long essays and presentations later, interviews fall flat because of "lack of experience."

The sheer fact that I have a university degree is experience, since university students, particularly literature majors, do a great deal of critical thinking, problem solving, and written and verbal communication. Why then is finding a simple entry-level position so difficult?

Where I am now

Presently, I continue to eagerly look for an entry-level position that makes use of my knowledge and skills. I will also be applying to nearby colleges to focus on editing and publishing, as I enjoy the field of communications.

My recommendations for employers, schools and career-centres

Employers need to reconsider their expectations as they could potentially lose an excellent candidate. Sure, some work related experience is beneficial, but the fact that a recent graduate does not have specific experience does not mean that they would be unable to perform efficiently.

My recommendation for students

I am fully aware that my experience is not unique. The frustration and disappointment of not being given the opportunity is all too common.

However, recent grads should not shrink back. Instead, we need to be even more persistent and "sell" our capabilities to employers. Let them know the types of courses you studied in university, in addition to the required courses you took for your major.

It is a fierce job market but consideration of potential talent on the part of the employer is important and persistence on the side of the recent graduate is key.

School silliness or bad behaviour?

Prank policies. From Post-It notes to animal activity, end-of-school shenanigans don't always sit well with staff

Well, it's that time of year again. Time to stash a dead fish somewhere to stink up the school hallways. Time to drop tennis balls on the heads of people in the lobby. Time to cover your soon-to-be alma mater with Post-It notes.

For high school seniors, it's prank time — or "structured mayhem" in the words of Mindy Utay, a therapist who works with teens.

It's a rite of passage as graduation looms, mostly harmless fun but sometimes escalating into vandalism.

This spring alone, windows at school have been smashed, walls and sidewalks spray painted, and paint poured down steps. Cars have been flipped. Property has been damaged from California to Kentucky to Maryland.

As a result, school administrators are rethinking exactly what constitutes a prank and where to draw the line — and finding that's not always easy to do.

This year, the rule at Ken-

Students load bikes into a truck during an organized bike ride to Kenowa Hills High School in Walker, Mich. owa Hills High School in Walker, Mich., was clear: No senior pranks allowed.

But organizing themselves on Facebook, a group of graduating seniors there decided to ride bicycles, en masse, on the last day of school. They arranged for a police escort along the three-mile route. The mayor even brought them doughnuts before they headed out to what was supposed to be a funny surprise for everyone else at school.

The principal was not amused.

She thought the students had put themselves in danger by riding along a busy thoroughfare. Traffic was disrupted. Drivers caught up in it, including some teachers, were late for work. In the principal's mind, the seniors had broken the "no pranks" rule, and she came down hard.

"But we didn't really see it as a prank. We saw it more as a senior send-off," says Sarah Pechumer, one of the 65 graduating students who participated. "It was harmless. It was arranged. It was legal."

And in the rowdy history of senior pranks, it was relatively benign.

"As long as it doesn't get out of control, I think it is healthy," says Utay, a therapist and clinical social worker in private practice in Manhattan.

"It's something they look forward to after all the pressure — a chance to take back some of the control. It's rebellion against that pressure, empowerment. It marks the end of the high school experience."

Utay says, at her own children's school, pranks are considered a tradition — even a show of school spirit.

Generally, it's been silly things, she says — dropping the tennis balls or hiding the dead fish. Or, say, putting four pygmy goats on an overhang above a school entrance, as authorities at Simsbury High School in Connecticut discovered last Wednesday.

"Like a lot of the practical joking and horseplay that goes on between adolescents and young adults, pranks are by and large fairly harmless, if nothing gets bruised except dignity," says Sherry Hamby, a psychology professor at Sewanee, The University of the South, in Tennessee.

Pranks often continue into college life, as they have for Brigham Young University junior Nate Stebbing and some of his buddies.

This spring, Stebbing and his crew turned neighbours' apartment living room into a giant Easter basket, complete with real sod and live bunnies and chicks.

The video they made has gotten hundreds of thousands of hits on YouTube.

The key to a successful prank, Stebbing says, is to never be mean-spirited or destructive. (The sod is now adorning someone's lawn and the animals found a good home.)

"We made sure that the people we were pranking were not people who'd take it the wrong way," he says. "Now we're super-tight friends with them — and it's an awesome memory."

Gokeyes bats go ballistic early in win over Saltdogs at Shaw Park

They say first impressions last a lifetime.

Well, the Winnipeg Gokeyes surely left one with Lincoln Saltdogs starter Jino Gonzalez on Tuesday night, lighting up the left-hander for eight first-inning runs on their way to a 10-6 victory in front of 5,512 vocal onlookers at Shaw Park in downtown Winnipeg. Gonzalez was yanked after just 2/3 of an inning.

It was the Gokeyes' sixth win in a row, improving their record to 18-6 on the year as they sit 4.5 games up on the second-place St. Paul Saints in the American Association North Division.

Winnipeg sent rookie left-hander Rich Hawkins to the hill, where he captured the win in his second start with the team since signing his first professional contract a week ago. The 22-year-old product of Edmond, Okla., tossed a three-hitter with a walk and three strikeouts in six complete innings, improving his season numbers to 2-0 with a 3.18 ERA.

Lincoln attempted to make it a game late, striking for pairs of runs in each of the final three frames.

Craig James earned his first save of the year.

The Gokeyes are looking to sweep their three-game series with the Saltdogs Wednesday at 11 a.m. before heading out on a seven-game road trip through Fargo-Moorhead and Sioux City.

Los Angeles and its Kings had earned every minute of it.

Music boomed and drinks flowed for a few hundred friends, family members and Kings employees hanging with the players. Everybody seemingly got a chance to raise the cup. The Conn Smythe Trophy also attended, and plenty of people borrowed Jonathan Quick's hardware long enough to chant "MVP!" for themselves.

The Kings weren't thinking much about how they became the first eighth seed to win a title, or how they won 10 straight road games this spring, or how they made the second-fastest run in modern NHL history to the Stanley Cup.

They already knew. "It's got to come from the

Poland fights back to keep hopes of advancing alive

Euro 2012. Polish defence largely muzzled Russian attack

Alan Dzagoev scored his third goal of the European Championship, and Jakub Blaszczykowski scored what will surely be one of the goals of the tournament.

Russia and Poland played out a 1-1 draw Tuesday. The result left Russia at the top of Group A, but all four teams still have a chance to qualify for the quarter-finals.

"We're still in the tournament, so with this point a win in our final match puts us into the knockout stage," Blaszczykowski said.

Dzagoev was first to score Tuesday. He darted past defender Lukasz Piszczek in the 37th minute and sent a glancing header beyond goalkeeper Przemyslaw Tyton after a curling free kick from Andrei Arshavin.

Russia continued to push forward after the goal, allowing Poland to equalize on the counter in the 57th when Blaszczykowski cut in from the right and sent a searing left-foot drive into the far corner of the goal.

"I think we deserve praise because all of us put a lot into this match," Blaszczykowski said. "The tactics we set up before the match we carried out 100 per cent."

Russia's rampant attack in the opening 4-1 win over the Czechs was largely muzzled by a well-organized Polish defence. At the other end, Robert Lewandowski was a constant threat.

"When we went 1-0 up, I thought we'd get more space like we did against the Czech Republic, but that didn't happen," Russia coach Dick Advocaat said. "We lost the ball too fast when we were going forward and they could counter. We left the field too open."

Violence

Fans clash outside game

Soccer hooligans clashed with opposing fans and police before and during Poland's game against bitter rival Russia on Tuesday, leaving 15 injured while more than 140 people were detained.

Following scattered fighting in the Polish capital before the match, police fired rubber bullets at a group of fans who attacked them with bottles and stones near an outdoor fan zone in central Warsaw where about 75,000 people were watching the game on huge screens.

None of the injured, which included a police officer, were in life-threatening condition.

About 5,000 Russian fans marched to the match at the National Stadium to celebrate the Russia Day national holiday.

It was seen as provocative to many Poles. The two countries share a difficult history, including decades of control by Moscow over Poland during the Cold War. Many Poles felt authorities shouldn't have allowed the Russians to march as a group in Warsaw given the historical wounds.

One of the most violent incidents occurred during the march. Polish hooligans attacked Russians. The two sides, made up of dozens of men, kicked and beat each other in the face, while flares could be seen exploding in their midst.

Before the match, the Czech fans booed their coach. Six minutes after the start, they could barely contain their joy.

"Everything worked for us tonight," Czech Republic coach Michal Bilek said. "I am happy with every player."

Petr Jiracek scored the first goal, beating Greece goalkeeper Costas Chalkias in the third minute after a pass from Tomas Hub-schmann sliced through the Greek defence. Vaclav Pilar added the second three minutes later with his second goal of the tournament. He was first to a ball sent across the goal by teammate Theodor Gebre Selassie.

"This was a big goal for me, and it's great for the team," Pilar said.

Substitute Fanis Gekas pulled one back for Greece in 53rd minute with a tap in after Chelsea goalkeeper Petr Cech spilled the ball and bumped into defender Tomas Sivok.

But the Greeks rallied too late, and their chances of advancing were hurt following their 1-1 draw with Poland in the opening Group A match.

The Czechs, however, put their bid to reach for the quarter-finals back on track.

Nice rims

As is the Scion way, the FR-S is shipped from its Japanese homeland with the expected load of standard gear plus aluminum sport pedals, a 300-watt Pioneer-brand sound system and Michelin Primacy rubber fitted to a neat set of 17-inch alloy wheels.

Premium fuel

This Scion is slim and trim — which saves fuel — with a rating of 8.3 l/100 km city and 5.8 highway for the automatic (9.6/6.6 for manual-gearbox versions).

But those numbers are offset by the engine's requirement for more expensive premium fuel.

2013 Scion FR-S

- Type. Two-door, rear-wheel-drive 2+2 sport coupe.
- Engine (hp): 2.0-litre DOHC H4 (200).
- Mileage: L/100 km (city/hwy) 9.6/6.6 (MT).
- Base Price (incl. destination): $27,500.

Engine

As with Subaru's BRZ, the FR-S employs a 200-horsepower (and 151 pound-feet of torque) 2.0-litre "flat" four-cylinder engine (one bank of two pistons fires at 180 degrees to the opposite two pistons). The basic design is all-Subaru, while Toyota contributes a unique intake system.

Hitting 100 km/h from rest takes a bit more than six seconds.

Review. A marriage produces a car that neither Toyota nor Subaru would likely have had on their own

MALCOLM GUNN
Wheelbase Media

Look, everyone ... twins.

For Subaru, the BRZ becomes the exception to its all-wheel-drive, all-the-time rule. For Toyota's Scion division, the identical FR-S is the flagship model that the brand has needed from the start.

It's unusual for two competing automakers (although Toyota does own a small piece of Subaru) to launch closely similar products, but not entirely unheard of. But in the case of specialty vehicles — 2+2 sport coupes, for example — that sell in limited quantities, it's a bit surprising, but ultimately great for buyers who could initiate a dealership dogfight in their attempts to score the best deal.

Scion, with its more prolific dealer network, should easily move its fair share of FR-S metal. FR-S stands for front-engine, rear-wheel-drive sport. And what impressive metal it is. The coupe's long-hood, short-deck proportions are right on the money and the low hood, muscular fenders and curvy roofline give it a poised, gimmick-free appearance.

The FR-S represents the kind of breakout styling that the rest of the Toyota fleet should emulate.

The interior design also carries the Toyota stamp of approval, with big round dials flanked by even bigger round air vents. As with any sport model worth its muscle, the tachometer (also big and round) sits dead centre in the driver's line of vision, with a smaller speedometer to the left and fuel/temperature gauges to the right.

With a road-ready starting price of $27,500, the Scion-Subaru FR-S offspring is all about inexpensive fun. Remember what that was like?

No?
It's about time, then, that Toyota and Subaru got together.

What's your ratchet?

If you work on cars, either as a hobby or to pay the bills, you'll appreciate a set of Zyklop ratchets from Wera. Their unique rotating-mass design allows you to easily spin the socket up to three times more quickly (according to the manufacturer) than a standard ratchet.

Although tackling bolts is the Zyklop's primary function, it can also be used as a reversible screwdriver when fitted with one of a number of different bits. Its swivelling-ratchet design allows it to function at a variety of angles, which is especially handy in cramped areas. Wera makes Zyklop ratchet sets from 18-43 pieces with prices beginning in the US $80 range for the basic set through amazon.com. The 43-piece set costs about US $240. When introduced, the two-door Acura RSX coupe rode an all-new platform shared by the latest Honda Civic. Standard equipment included standard 15-inch wheels, front and side airbags, air conditioning and a CD player. Leather seating, cruise control, a sunroof and a 6-CD changer were present in the RSX's hardware list as well, depending on the model in question.

Compact, energetic and poised, the RSX quickly became popular with performance-minded buyers after a premium machine.

TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Common Issues

Be sure there's plenty of pad left on the brakes, and that they aren't squealing — which could indicate the need for a brake job. Check tire tread depth and condition, noting any abnormal wear across the tread width that could indicate alignment issues.

Note any owner-added upgrades, avoiding models modified with anything more serious than an intake and exhaust system. Improperly installed, modified parts can adversely affect the longevity of your used RSX and its various systems.

Engine

All RSX models got a two-litre, four-cylinder engine. Standard models developed 160 horsepower, while the sportier Type S model made around 200, depending on the year in question.

What Owners Like

Owners of the RSX tended to rate its styling and driving dynamics the most highly, with comfort and performance falling slightly behind. Most report satisfaction with the RSX's mileage, handling, responsiveness and reliability.

What Owners Dislike

Common complaints include poor ride quality on account of the stiff, sport-tuned suspension, and limited rear-seat space.

Verdict

Ultimately, shoppers finding a good deal on a used RSX that fits their budget and priorities will likely join a community of largely satisfied owners.

Horoscope

♈ Aries | March 21 - April 20.

Today's Sun-Saturn link promises that if you make a serious effort you will enjoy serious results — the kind that could make you a star.

♉ Taurus | April 21 - May 21.

The planets will bring several opportunities your way over the next 24 hours but there is one goal you should be focusing on to the exclusion of everything else.

♊ Gemini | May 22 - June 20.

The more you are on the move today, the less time you will have to spend worrying about little things.

♋ Cancer | June 21 - July 22.

You sense that an important change is coming and you are worried it might be a change for the worse. You won't escape this feeling until the Sun enters your sign on the 20th.

♌ Leo | July 23 - Aug. 22. You will realize today that you were wrong to be suspicious about someone's motives. Apologize if you've been harsh. It's not too late, but be fast.

♍ Virgo | Aug. 23 - Sept. 22.

You enjoy routine but the planets warn there is a danger you could settle into a routine that is too comfortable and too predictable.

♎ Libra | Sept. 23 - Oct. 22.

Things have been going so well for you that you are afraid there is some sort of catch. Don't worry, there isn't. Today's Sun-Saturn link will confirm how truly fortunate you are.

♏ Scorpio | Oct. 23 - Nov. 21.

Money matters will go well today but they will go even better if you follow your instincts rather than what the "experts" suggest.

♐ Sagittarius | Nov. 22 - Dec. 21.

Forget what others say you have to do and focus on your own desires. That is not only the recipe for having fun but also the recipe for success.

♑ Capricorn | Dec. 22 - Jan 20.

Someone in a position of authority will be impressed by your willingness to stick to a task that others too easily gave up on.

♒ Aquarius | Jan. 21 - Feb 18.

You won't lack for confidence today, and you never lack for courage, but hopefully you will balance that with a large dose of common sense.

♓ Pisces | Feb. 19 - March 20.

Financial matters are under favourable stars today and if you use your brain you will come out ahead of the game.
